CLOSING EXERCISES,
ALBERTA LADIES' COLLEGEGreat Interest Displayed by Red Deer Citizens

The exercises in connection with the closing of the work of the first term of Alberta Ladies' College took place on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, June 18th and 19th.

On Wednesday evening there was a dramatic competition and an exhibit of the work of the gymnasium and household science, with music very kindly contributed by Mrs. Quigge and Mrs. Sanders. On account of the most unfavorable weather, the exercises were somewhat late in beginning. The President, Rev. N. D. Keith, was absent attending the general assembly in Toronto, and in his absence Rev. W. G. Brown took his chair. He gave an interesting and comprehensive address on the aim and the scope of the college work, and of its present outlook.

Under the supervision of Miss Wilkie, of the college staff, who had also had the assistance of Madame Quigge, the students gave the trial scenes in the Merchant of Venice, much to the delight of the friends who had braved the elements to be present. Mrs. Tallman and Mrs. Sanderson had very kindly consented to be the judges of the dramatic work, but as Mrs. Tallman had been unable to be present, her task was given to Mr. W. E. Lord. The first prize fell to Miss Marion Fife, who took the part of Antonio, and the second to Miss Jean Logan, who was playing the part of Portia. Master Harold Muldrew made an interesting Shylock, and took his part with much appreciation.

The gymnasium exercises were held in the large dining room. Here the students were made to go through a rather severe set of floor gymnastics, wand drill and dumb bells, with a series of marches and counter-marches. The students have had drill in this work only since coming to the college building, and yet it has made a marked impression upon the health and carriage of the girls. The exercises are designed to promote cheerful mind, alertness and decision, concentration and control. Such exercises are chosen as shall not place great strain upon the student, but are designed to give a good carriage and to remedy or adjust any obviously defective or incorrect attitude or action of the body or of any part of the body.

At the close of the exercises, short addresses were given by some of our prominent men, ex-Mayor Wellesley, Mr. Gray of Edmonton, Dr. Gray, and others. The visitors were then taken to the household science room, where an interesting exhibition was given of the work of the students in cookery. Here again it must be remembered that the actual work in practical cookery began only after the first of April, when the students had the advantage of the household science kitchen. Miss Campbell is to be congratulated upon these things, among others that every member of her class of girls can make good bread, a rather interesting point being that in this work the youngest girl in the school made by far the best bread.

On Thursday evening we were most fortunate in having present the esteemed chairman of the College Board, Col. James Walker, of Calgary, who acted as chairman. It had been intended to have only the musical and dramatic work of the students on this evening, but a request was made to have at least a brief drill in gymnasium work. This made the programme a little longer than it would otherwise have been.

The music contributed by the students consisted of piano solos by Miss Vera May and Miss Marion Fife, a vocal solo by Miss Vera May, a duet by Misses Helena Keith and Miss Emma Hamilton, a duet by Miss Sadie McGrimmon and Miss Edith Baxter, and a duet by Miss Marjorie Powell and Miss Doris Bay. Under the training of Madame Quigge, three girls had prepared a humorous play entitled "The Suffragette." Miss May, Miss Fife and Miss Logan were each very good in the part taken.

The dramatic work of the previous evening and the exhibition of gymnasium work took up a large part of the evening, when several men were called upon, and they responded with brief addresses. Among those who spoke were Mayor Galbraith, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Green.

An interesting feature of the programme was the distribution of prizes. Mrs. Muldrew briefly explained the work taken up in the college, telling what the prizes were offered for. In the commercial department three prizes were offered, two for senior work and one for junior work. Mr. D. E. Black, of Calgary, had given a gold medal for the best in the department, which fell to Miss Ina Green, the second place being given to Miss Ina Quigge, while Miss Mary Harvey took first prize in junior commercial.

A list of the fortunate ones shows how well the work of the school was done, and the hearty support and sympathy that it is receiving, both from our own local men and from men who are interested, both in Edmonton and in Calgary, who donated prizes towards this work.

some expressing the department to which the prizes were to be given, and others leaving it to the discretion of those whose work it was to say who was worthy in each department.

In general proficiency—1st, Miss Jean Hodgson, gold medal, contributed by W. P. Bull; 2nd, Miss Helena Keith; Senior class, Miss M. Powell.

In Household Science—1st, Miss Jean Logan, contributed by Col. Walker; 2nd, Miss Jean Hodgson, contributed by Mrs. Walker; 3rd, Miss Jennie Richards, contributed by W. W. Horton.

In Music—1st, senior, Miss Vera May; 2nd, Miss Marion Fife; junior, Miss Helena Keith.

Dramatic Work—1st, Miss Marion Fife; 2nd, Miss Jean Logan. In this department Miss Wilkie gave a special prize to Master Harold Muldrew, who had assisted the work by taking the part of Shylock.

Commercial—1st, junior, Ina Green; 2nd, Ina Quigge; junior, Miss Mary Harvey.

Gymnasium—1st, Miss Vera May; 2nd, Miss M. Powell; 3rd, Miss Laura Houston; 4th, Miss Alice Rogers.

Special-prize essay—Miss Helen Lennox.

For application and progress—1st, Miss Helen Brydson; 2nd, Miss Pearl McLean.

Special in nursing and sanitation, donated by Dr. Gray and Dr. Sanderson—1st, Miss Jean Hodgson; 2nd, Miss Marion Fife.

Dr. Gray and Dr. Sanderson presented their prizes, and were good enough to say some very kind things about the value of the work that was being done, and about the excellence of the results, both in practice and in the examinations, where the papers had been sent by them, and where they were able to see that the pupils had an intelligent grasp of the subjects.

LIST OF DONORS.

Among those who have a fine spirit towards this college are the friends who contributed prizes in recognition of the term's work, and we are glad to publicly acknowledge our deep indebtedness to them, and express our thanks. The following list will show how generous has been this support: Col. Walker and Mrs. Walker of Calgary; W. P. Bull, Liverpool, England; D. E. Black, Calgary; J. H. McDulla, Edmonton; H. Neilson, Calgary; Calgary Furniture Co., Calgary; J. H. Ashdown, Calgary; T. Burns, Calgary; J. J. MacNamera, Edmonton; J. H. Gray, Calgary; W. E. Lord, P. H. Tallman, W. E. Payne, G. W. Greene, W. W. Horton, Messrs. Michener and Carscallen, Messrs. Gaetz and Cornett, Dr. Gray, Dr. Sanderson.

Before going to the household science room to see the exhibits, in looking done by the students, Mrs. Muldrew gave a very brief statement of the work of the college was trying to cover in this department. Stating that household science and cookery were not synonymous terms, but that an all round training had been attempted, of which cooking was but one side.

Referring to the students, and the guests departed with many expressions of appreciation and of sympathy with work of the quality of their work.

This college ought to play a very strong part in the better life of this young province. Institutions must justify their right to existence by the quality of their work.

The young girls that go from this institution are the only advertisement that can ever have any value. If in this great west we are to develop a new type of life, it is going to be through the influence of the women who make the homes, and if of the quality of the women who will direct these homes depends a great deal upon the training that the young girls of today are receiving, then institutions that offer such training must have a new development with our national life, and among the newer ones none has more right to the consideration of thinking men and women than our Ladies' College at Red Deer. The college will open for work on the third of September.

Sylvan Lake

A great many visitors are at the lake, and more are expected daily. A game was held by those interested in the regatta and various committees were appointed. A letter was read from the Red Deer business men, and it was resolved to work in conjunction with them to make the regatta on July 11th and 12th a success in every way.

Mr. Goddard is building a bungalow on the lake front on the Lonsdale addition. Sidewalks and culverts are being put in in the most necessary places, and roadways by street grading has been done in the last week. The widening of the lake front road from the Lower Camp will have the approval of everyone.

A large cooperative store is in contemplation and with the backing that is behind it, should prove a big success. Two lots on Lonsdale Avenue are under consideration.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. H. L. Austin and family wish to thank their friends in and around Poplar Ridge for the kindness shown to them in their recent sad bereavement.

DOMINION DAY SPORTS

Arrangements Complete for Brilliant Celebration

The Sports Committee have now got everything down on a good working basis and fine weather is about the only thing needed to make Dominion Day a decided success. The parade in the morning will start at 9 o'clock from the public schools and proceed to the City Square to receive the patriotic address. The school children are all looking forward to it, and doing their best to interest their parents, who should make it a point to turn out if possible and remember it is Dominion Day. There will be lots of different events, for $1,500 is being divided into prizes. There will be no championship events this year, but there will be lots of other events, and the two prizes for the best dressed store front. This competition should be a keen one, and it will be judged by three competent judges at noon on June 30th. The dressed windows should be the line of patriotic and commercial effect combined. Who is going to win this honor? Special prizes will also be awarded for the best decorated automobile. Another special prize will be for the best banner carried by the children from the country district schools. The trap gun shooting for which entries have been received from some of the crack shooters in the Dominion, will commence at 9 a.m., and will probably be the largest shoot ever held in Alberta. The football matches, are a special item, as games will be played by undoubtedly three of the best teams in the Dominion, against whom the Red Deer United and Fife's team will put up their strength. Two of these games will take place in the morning, about 10 and 1 o'clock, and the final in the afternoon. In every probability there will be two good games of baseball. The horse racing will be good, including a number of young papers owned by local men. The money races will be of the best, and it is hoped that some country visitors will not fail to bring their ponies and enter them. We want some of the old-fashioned races that are so enjoyable. There will be two special features also in the horse line, a relay race, which will bring out the qualities of man and horse, and a cowboy race. The Central Alberta Horse, under the direction of Major Carlyle Moore, will put on some attractive features, including a musical relay race. The athletic event will consist of races from 100 yards to 5 miles. There must be a good number of men in the country districts who can make a good show in these events, and it is to be hoped they will enter. There will also be races for the boys and girls, including egg and spoon and sack race. Climbing the greasy pole, in the evening, on the City Square, will be an amusing stunt, and there will be a ham at the top for the successful climber. But that is not all. They are arranging a musical programme, which will be carried out during the fire work display, which will be of the very best. All this will be for 25c. It is up to the people to make a success of this Dominion Day celebration, and we think they will rise to the occasion.

Provincial and Snell Shield
Match at Didsbury

The Red Deer United journeyed to Didsbury on Friday to play of the Snell Shield and provincial match, and incidentally ran up against a "Scotch" Thistle in the form of Didsbury's centre half back, who is a fine player from the land of the Thistle. Red Deer had a good team, but not quite the best they could put on the field, and evidently the waiting around for hours previous to the match affected some of the players, the sun being very powerful. Didsbury have a real good team, in fact they are the only team who have ever made the local boys extend themselves in recent years, and they won this match by 2 goals to 1. After a strenuous game, Oliver was unfortunate enough to help them to the first goal, their outside right scoring the second one. Red Deer's goal was scored by a good shot put in by Wright, which the goalkeeper handled and could not get rid of before Steadman had put him and the ball between the posts. All the players put up a good game. Ross in goal being very fine and the pick of the team. The ground was heavy and the long grass handicapped the players a great deal. The Didsbury team will likely play their return match in Red Deer on Friday night at 7.15. Your presence will be needed to help the boys by being there for them in good fashion. Ladies, line up. Red Deer team was as follows: Goal, Ross; backs, Oliver and A. R. Gibson; half backs, McDonald, Adey, Roberts; forwards, Chas. Carswell, Roy Malcolm, R. Steadman, J. Wright and R. Geo.

A RECORD OF THINGS ACCOMPLISHED.

Now the session has closed, a glance over its record shows it has been the most dramatic since Confederation. The Borden government has been in power eighteen months and during that time it has carried out more pledges than the Laurier government did in fifteen years of office.

When, by the will of the people, Robert Laird Borden assumed the responsible position of Prime Minister of Canada, he was known to be an honest, careful, conscientious man. His years of training as leader of the opposition—a thankless task at the best—had put him in good stead at the very outset of his career as the first Chief of Canada. He assured office with his own of state-manship undisturbed and unknown. But the people trusted Robert Laird Borden. They knew he was a safe man. They knew that under his direction the administration of public affairs would be clean and honest—two qualities which had been sadly lacking during the Laurier regime.

Mr. Borden, during his so far brief tenure of power, has exhibited qualities of state-manship and leadership which stamp him as one of the greatest Canadians. He immediately set about fulfilling his pre-election promises. During his tour of the prairie provinces in 1911 he had promised when returned to power to build the Hudson's Bay Railway and build it without allowing the spectre of graft to creep in. His pledge in this regard has been faithfully kept, and the west will find another outlet to the markets of Great Britain. He promised Civil Service reform, and recently Sir George Murray, an eminent British expert on matters pertaining to the public service, visited Ottawa, and made an invaluable report on the problem of reorganization of the Canadian service. He promised to consult the British Admiralty on the question of after the election he went to England, and consulted the Sea Lords, and today he is known throughout the British Empire as the first Canadian statesman who ever lifted a finger to aid the motherland in the burdens of Empire, along the line suggested by the Admiralty.

Mr. Borden promised more assistance to agriculture, and there has been passed this session—despite the thinly veiled hostility of the Liberals—a bill providing for the expenditure of $10,000,000 on education for the farmer in matters pertaining to agriculture. The Liberals, who have long boasted they were the friends of the farmer, tried hard to throw cold water on this legislation. But, above everything else, Mr. Borden has shown himself to be a true Britisher. He voted the aspirations of the Canadian people when he declared that Canada should no longer sponge on her mother. He earned for himself the thanks of every man who believes that the Union Jack stands for freedom and a fair share in the burdens of Empire. In a word Mr. Borden, despite extraordinary difficulties of the Laurier brand, has shown himself to be a British-Canadian, whose conception of Empire responsibilities is as far removed from the puny cavillation of Laurier, as day is from night.

UNITED EMPIRE LOYALISTS AND THE WEST.

The Toronto Mail and Empire, last week, said that some times, through a local newspaper, Mr. Newton MacTavish asked: "Who are the United Empire Loyalists, anyway, that they should have so much to say in the government of this country?" An old Scottish Liberal, somewhat leathery in the history of Canada, wrote up from an Ontario town, wanting to know: "Who is Mr. MacTavish, and is he not aware that he for the United Empire Loyalists there would have been no Canadian Magazine for him to edit?" Had these early pioneers failed in their love for British ideals and British blood in 1773 and 1812-13, the Prairies and territories now embraced in Confederation would have been absorbed into the United States.

Unfortunately, the well-deserved rebuke has failed to cure. The editor, who despises the founders and preservers of the nation, is not discouraged. His hope now is that the Americans and foreigners who are pouring into the West will overrule the "hot-bed of false patriotism" known as Ontario. To this wish he gives free rein in the Westminster Review, a coldly intellectual periodical, which never allows sentiment or imagination any scope in the scheme of things.

Mr. MacTavish dislikes the National Anthem and Rule Britannia. He eudides up to the Monroe Doctrine and evidently thinks that the world would lose little by the disappearance of the British Empire. He forgets that for centuries England has led the vanguard of civil and religious liberty in the four quarters of the globe, that India and Egypt are gradually being emancipated from ages of darkness by Englishmen and Scotchmen and Irishmen, and that when China or Turkey wants her corrupt and decadent administration re-cast she calls for a Hatt or a Cromer or a Glimmer. The Mail goes on to say that all this is as nothing to men who deny the unmatchable achievements of their own race.

According to Mr. MacTavish, Ontario's intense loyalty to the monarchy does not warrant it in dictating the policy of Confederation. The West will object. "The trail of the United Empire Loyalists does not extend so far. Out there one does not and enough Colonels George Denison and Doctors George Parkin to keep the Imperialist wave. Apart from Victoria and Vancouver there is not in all the West one social or political club at whose board the greatness of the British Empire is the great topic of discussion." These sentences reveal a curious unfamiliarity with the people beyond the Great Lakes. No man draws larger audiences or arouses more enthusiastic applause throughout the West than the two missionaries of Empire whom the critic mentions and whom he has not enough imagination to appreciate.

Mr. MacTavish is absolutely in error regarding the feelings of the West. We are a loyal people, and among us are to be found many descendants of U. E. Loyalists, and they are made of the stuff that lasts so long as the Empire lasts. They do not talk much, but let this Mr. MacTavish visit almost any centre of population in the west, and study the men who lead, lawyers, doctors, ministers, and other professional men, and the leading business men, and he will find that most of them are from the east, and are in many cases descendants of the good old Ontario and Eastern provinces. E. Loyalist stock—men who are clean and loyal to the core, men who love the old flag and King and country as firmly as ever man loved of old. This talk of want of loyalty in the West is an insult to the people who have made the west their home, and the sooner the parties who circulate these yarns are made aware of this fact, the better it will be for all concerned.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice of the Dominion of Canada, speaking at Guelph, Ont., Thursday last, at the nomination of A. Kelly Evans, said:

"I had the pleasure of accompanying Mr. Borden to England, and there we heard from the lips of authority of the needs of the Empire. Look at the facts and realize the conditions. Great Britain has been and is at the present time training every joint to put her naval strength on the basis it should be on if she would properly and adequately protect herself. This is surely evidence enough to everyone that there is need of help from Canada. While we were in England we received actual assurance from the Admiralty that assistance was needed in the Naval Department, more so than ever before."

Hon. Doherty dare not make this statement if it were not true, and being true, it shows that the Liberal party, in turning down the naval aid bill, have lined themselves up with the enemies of our country.

MALIGNING THE WEST.

J. Horne Payne, representing the Canadian Northern Railway, in an interview in London, is reported to have advised the British investor against Canadian municipal issues, and his action has very justly raised a strong protest in the west against such a statement. The statement is unwarranted and called for. In no particular instance has a city of the west failed in any degree to meet its just obligations to bond holders in the past, and there fore there is now not a shadow of doubt but that they will continue to maintain this splendid record. Satisfaction and other western cities are taking the matter up with the president of the C.N.R. and the Government with a view to having the statement denied.

Every growing ambitious town is composed of three elements: Those who work patriotically, vigorously and intelligently for its advancement; those who are in a state of apathy or indifference, and those who take a curious delight in ridiculing the efforts of others by sarcasm, and by a persistent denial that any progress can or has been accomplished, and by boasts of every other town besides their own. The last class are called enablers, but they are really something worse, for their opposition does not arise simply from despondency but from that insidious spirit that will neither act itself or suffer others to act.

A BLOW FOR RECIPROCITY FANATICS.

It is worthy of note that in spite of the cry for larger markets for the Western grain grower we imported last fiscal year from the United States $8,131,279 worth of wheat, compared with $2,837,008 worth for the preceding fiscal year, an increase of $5,294,271. We exported to the United States $8,352,983 worth of wheat so that imports and exports of wheat to the United States are practically the same—about $120,000 in favor of the exports from Canada.

We also imported considerably more oats from the United States than we exported. Our imports of oats were $1,551,909 worth, and we only exported $739,357 worth. Our imports of barley from the United States were $67,755 worth, and in the year just ended $77,607 worth; while our exports of barley were $410,000 worth, a decrease of $118,000 worth from the previous year. We imported more butter and cheese from the United States than we exported to that country. Our imports of butter amounted to $341,971, a considerable increase over the previous year, and we exported $141,300 worth.

We imported $2,294,000 worth of vegetables and we were only able to export $348,000 worth of the same article.

What have the advocates of the adjunct policy to say about these facts?

"No aid for the farmers or for the Empire" seems to be the motto of the Senate, as they killed the Naval Bill and the Highways Act.

Once more it is worth while pointing out what is quoted on the Winnipeg market at 90, on the Minneapolis market at 90 and Chicago market at 91 cents per bushel.

The Liberal Senate threw out the Highways Act to give the farmers better roads, but they passed the Railway Subsidy Act to give the railways assistance practically without discussion.

Three important measures stand to the credit of Hon. L. P. Pelletier, for the session's work. They are parcels post, cheaper cable rates and faster steamship connection with Great Britain. It is a record to be proud of.

The Liberals in power always blocked parcels post, and in opposition they continued this policy. They did not dare oppose the measure outright, but pleaded for delay. After fifteen years' delay on their part they wanted a continuation of that policy.

Dr. Michael Clark, the hero of the scandalous scenes in parliament during the blockade on the naval aid bill, is posing as the mouthpiece of the British-born. It is possible the British-born have more common sense than that with which Dr. Clark credits them.

Good roads are essential to the prosperity of the farmer and the dweller in the rural portions of Canada. The Borden government sought to provide these by systematic financial aid. The Senate, a body appointed and not elected, has so mutilated the legislation that it is useless. The next time a Liberal comes along and boasts of his love for the "lonely figure in the furrow," that lonely figure is apt to do some damage with a spade-handle.

When Sir George Ross moved the killing of the naval bill there were present in and about the Senate three members of the Liberal Board of Strategy, the seatless ex-ministers, including Hon. Mackenzie King, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. W. S. Fielding. The indirect interest displayed by these men in the last chapter of the anti-British game played by them and their friends in Parliament was the subject of much comment.

The Majority Must Rule

The Liberal press, or that part of it which is supporting Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in demanding an appeal to the electorate on the naval question, there will be no immediate election, and for many reasons. It is a fundamental principle in all governments that the majority must rule, and in carrying out this principle Hon. Mr. Borden cannot have his policy dictated by an irresponsible minority. Mr. Michlen in an interesting article on Closure, has made this quite clear. (On the subject of an election he gives the following reasons for refusing the demand of the minority—)

But some one says, why not have an appeal to the people and end the deadlock? Here is the answer: To do so would be to leave Parliament to the master of its own procedure that was before. To do so was to put a premium on obstruction which is an abuse and inherently wrong. It was to make a hero of the obstructionist, who after all is a public nuisance, and successful because he is such. To do so was to say to the voters of Canada: You gave us your suffrages; you placed us in power; you commanded us to transact the business of this country; you entrusted to me the management of your affairs; on all great decisions of State. But there was one decision with which you would not entrust us—namely, the decision of a majority. So we should be at the end of a Parliamentary term, or in the middle, or at the commencement—that question was too big to risk in the hands of a majority; so we left it in the hands of a minority. You withheld it from those you voted for, and reposed it in the hands of a minority against whom you could hardly go further? Talk for talk's sake must never get the sanction of success. Deliberate obstruction is a vice and ought to be exterminated. No Government can afford to be footballed to the country by its use. Had Mr. Borden surrendered to those who brandish the weapon as he would have become a partner in their guilt.

But the guerrilla Liberal press point to the elections of 1896 and 1911, claiming they were won by the minority in Parliament on each of those occasions. Such a statement is untrue. In 1896, the government had all but run its course. Within the month it was known that it would have to resign. In 1911 Sir Wilfrid was not forced to the country; supply was never refused; he could not carry on parliament indefinitely, and he preferred an election. It must be remembered also in the latter case, the subject at issue had not been before the electorate. Reciprocity was conceived after the general election. If ever obstruction could be justified, it was in 1911, although obstruction did not cause an election.

Mr. Borden is perfectly right in refusing to throw the country into the turmoil of a general election, at the dictation of a defeated leader. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his irresponsible followers have been demanding a contest from the country for such a contest, rather the people of Canada prefer the peace and quietness to business at the present time to the disturbance of a political contest. The Conservative party has also the right to a parliamentary term to redress its wrongs. Much has been done in two sessions, but pledges remain to be put into effect. Two more sessions will see the redemption of all pledges.

There have been no minority rule would have been ridiculous. Any government that would allow such action deserves defeat. Fortunately, Mr. Borden is a bigger man than Sir Wilfrid and has shown that he intends to govern Canada. Sir Wilfrid's vanity is sorely injured by the realization of this fact, which is all the more bitter as the experience cannot but understand that his parliamentary career must close in opposition, and what is even worse, disgrace, caused by his unfair and unpatriotic policy.

There have been no minority rule would have been ridiculous. Any government that would allow such action deserves defeat. Fortunately, Mr. Borden is a bigger man than Sir Wilfrid and has shown that he intends to govern Canada. Sir Wilfrid's vanity is sorely injured by the realization of this fact, which is all the more bitter as the experience cannot but understand that his parliamentary career must close in opposition, and what is even worse, disgrace, caused by his unfair and unpatriotic policy.

Ever since circuses were invented, the press agents of the various organizations have been coming along to tell the editors all about how many clowns their attraction carries, because, when you come to think of it, a circus is mainly composed of clowns and elephants, pretty women and beautiful gypsy-maidens, but not least, clowns—the more the better.

But, really, when you come to think of it, the Sells-Photo people have, for the past two years, carried off the championship in the matter of joy dispensers. By actual count, they have brought us more funny men than any attraction visiting us, so it is only just that we should give some credence to their promoter of publicity when he breezes into the office and tells us without batting an eye that they have some "before and after" pictures.

"I didn't have time to," said he, "that's a fact. Took a day off a couple of times and tried to, but gave it up as a bad job. Did you ever try to figure out how many sheep could race through a gap in half an hour? Well, that's just like our clowns—there were so many of them that I just couldn't count them. I had to put it in my diary. I guess we must have a million. What's that? That's a little strong? Oh, well, make it a thousand then. What's the use of marvelling about an old cipher or two. Just tell the folks that we are coming here, July 17, for a single day's engagement. Tell 'em to come down and see the parade, it's free. Tell 'em the price is 25 cents, as usual, and it carries with it a license to get snappy. Everbody, welcome—see you for 10,000. Glory, glory, Hallelujah."

The Truth Good Enough

The Edmonton Journal of June 20th said: Red Deer has followed the excellent example set by Taler and has sent out details of statements made by real estate agents at the "coast" trying to sell Red Deer property. "For instance," says the News, "a Vancouver firm reported the G.T.R. as entering Red Deer. Another stated that we had industries here that do not exist in our midst; others represented the A.C.R. with fifty tracks, all of which are contrary to facts. Subdivision property is being sold miles out in the country at exorbitant rates, and the poor, deluded purchasers, will soon realize they have been duped and a black eye will be given our fair name."

The News is quite right. Red Deer is too good a town to suffer from such irresponsible exploitation.

Red Deer City Coat of Arms Competition

In response to the call of tenders for a Coat of Arms for the City of Red Deer, a large number was received by Commissioner Stephenson from all over the province. The Council met on Friday afternoon to decide which was the most suitable. All the competing designs, some 50 odd, had been numbered as they were received, so that no one knew whose exhibit they were judging. In the end No. 17 won the prize, and with it the honor, which is most likely thought more of than the prize. We are glad to note that one of our own citizens, in the person of Alex. Mitchell, engraver at H. J. Snell's, was the fortunate winner of the competition. This is the second competition of this kind Mr. Mitchell has won, being successful in the open competition for a badge for the Light Horse, which has also been adopted for the regiment of 35th Central Alberta Horse. Mr. Mitchell is certainly to be complimented on his work, which would be hard to beat anywhere. The description of the Coat of Arms is as follows:

On a ground work of mountains, showing setting sun to represent "Sunny Alberta," with a number of dairy cows in foreground to represent "Dairy Farming," above which is six shipping milk cans to denote the "Shipping of Dairy Produce."

Right of shield bottom—An open book to represent "Education."

Supporters: shield on left and right, respectively, the lion and unicorn, to represent "Loyalty to the Crown," below which is a scroll with motto, "Justice, Humanity, Progress."

Just over the shield the dates 1901 and 1913, showing the respective years Red Deer was incorporated, first as a town and then as a city. The whole surmounted by a red deer's head and scroll with "City of Red Deer" thereon.

Serious Charge Against Lacombe Men at Red Deer

On Saturday last, before Justice Wallace, two men were brought up charged with selling or offering for sale liquor without a license. The accused had hired a team and "rigat" Lacombe and drove to Red Deer, and were trying to dispose of the goods when they were arrested. Ralph Lee, who was first charged, pleaded not guilty. After hearing the evidence, Justice Wallace served his decision till after hearing the case against the other man, Ernest Montgomery, when charged with selling without a license, was about to plead not guilty, but on the charge being altered to read "offering for sale," he pleaded guilty. Justice Wallace asked him if he was aware how serious the matter was, and he said no, although he was a bartender and had his license with him. He asked to be given another chance, as he was a married man, but Justice Wallace, while sympathizing with the accused's wife, could not see his way to do anything else than carry out the law, and sentenced him to a fine of $100 and costs or two months in Lethbridge jail. He asked for time to pay the money, and was given till Monday though not allowed to go free. Chief Anderson undertaking to do what the man wished in the matter, J. Halstead was the principal witness for the prosecution. He testified to having seen the accused in possession of the liquor in bottles in a bag, and having heard a conversation about the goods between the two men, Messrs. Cherry, proprietor, and W. Moran, bartender of the Arlington, also gave evidence. The accused man, Lee, was then brought back and charged with offering for sale, to which he pleaded not guilty, and outside of saying that he had worked for Mr. Wilson, a contractor at Lacombe, he would say nothing but I guess so. Justice Wallace said there was not enough evidence to commit him, so that he would be dismissed. The accused was making for the door at a good pace, when Chief Anderson placed his hand on his shoulder and again placed him under arrest on suspicion of stealing the cases of liquor at Lacombe. Shortly afterwards Chief of Police Miller of Lacombe, arrived with a warrant for the arrest of both men for breaking into and stealing, sworn out before Justice Carswell. The men were removed to Lacombe for trial in the charge of Chief Miller.

At the same court, W. Tavish, working at the gravel pits, was fined $2 and costs for being drunk and incapable on Friday night. The accused said he would pay if the police had found any money on him, which they had, for Chief Anderson handed him a $20 bill and other money.

Valuable Western Prosperity Edition Issued in Calgary

The News-Telegram's 130-Page Special Number Contains a Wealth of Useful Information, Attractively Illustrated.

The Calgary News-Telegram has just issued a "Prosperity Number," which contains a wealth of authoritative information regarding the city of Calgary and the province of Alberta, and the edition, because of the articles and statistics which it presents, should be of value to everyone who is interested in the commercial centre of the sunny province. It was the purpose of the publishers, in preparing the "Prosperity Number," to assemble facts and figures that would impressively indicate the rapid and substantial development of Calgary and Alberta, and every aspect of that development has been exhaustively and conscientiously reviewed. The edition comprises 130 pages.

The histories of the province and of Calgary are given in concise, readable form, along with sketches and portraits of the famous pioneer missionaries, Rev. Dr. John McDonald and Rev. Father Lacombe, without mention of whom a record of the west would not be complete.

NATURAL RESOURCES DESCRIBED.

The natural resources of Alberta, and their relative importance to Calgary, are dealt with, and the possibilities for their future development are carefully treated. Every effort has been made to secure exact information in these premises so that the work may be of real benefit to those who may be interested in the Alberta field of investment.

The industrial and commercial activities of Calgary are treated in special sections, and the opportunities of the city and province are given due prominence.

The same is true of the agricultural department, which will not only prove useful to those farmers who are already situated in Alberta, but also to those who propose to take up land in the last great west.

MODEL CITY GOVERNMENT.

Calgary's civic administration, which is held to be among the most up-to-date and effective on the continent, is fully described, stress being laid upon the benefits accruing to the community by reason of its self-owned, operated and controlled public utilities, which include the street railway, electric light and water systems. Space is given to Calgary's plans for the future, and the suggestions of the famous expert, Thomas Lawson, who is in Calgary's present employ, are described at length and will be found valuable by every municipality that is devoting attention to civic improvement schemes.

Calgary's educational facilities, which are locally regarded as unequalled, even in the big cities of the east, are fully discussed, as are the other public institutions.

ABLE SPECIAL ARTICLES.

Included among the most valuable contributions to the "Prosperity Number," are articles from the pens of some of the most advanced thinkers of the west, and these ably elaborate their views on city and country building.

The transportation issues are a feature of the edition, and the tremendous growth of the railways on the prairies in recent years, as well as their ambitious plans for the future, occupy an entire section.

In short, every factor in the development of the west is given due attention, and the whole number furnishes probably the best compendium of reliable information that has so far been prepared.

The edition is printed on heavy glazed paper, and is profusely and attractively illustrated. It will be welcome, not only for souvenir purposes, but also for business and historical reference.

Practical Records

Almost every dairy farmer who commences to weigh and sample his cow's milk, individually, says at the end of a few months, "I find some in my herd were kept at a loss." Some men find only one or two cows, others state that they have found too many in the herd playing a losing game.

What does this mean? Just this: that despite all the experience gained from years of practical dairying, the farmer finds that in order to become thoroughly practical he must requisition the aid of dairy records. Neither the cow's appearance, nor the owner's knowledge of some short-period yield of milk (extraordinary as that yield may have been for a day, or once, or a month) will testify with certainty to each individual cow's ability to pay her way for the whole year. Cow testing provides a simple and eminently practical way of discovering, not only if each cow pays, but which cow pays the most profit on the twelve months' transaction of feed consumed, and milk and fat produced. These large-profit cows are revealed only by practical cow testing. Cows are apt to cheat the unsusppecting dairymen unless he keeps tab on the performance of each one; many dairymen have found this out to their utter astonishment and regret. Don't take chances with your herd, be certain that each cow pays; it pays you to find out. Individual cow records help the practical farmer to build up a profitable herd.

A CHARMING WEDDING

Miss Dorothea Huestis Married

Miss Dorothea Huestis, only daughter of Rev. Chas. H. and Mrs. Huestis, was married at the Leonard Gaetz Memorial Church, Red Deer, on Wednesday afternoon, to Mr. George Heath Macdonald, of Edmonton. The popularity of the fair bride in this city was evidenced by the large attendance of guests and friends at the church, and by the many good wishes expressed for the future happiness of a girl who had so unselfishly and charmingly given of her many social and musical gifts for the general good.

The ceremony was performed under a bower of wild roses and wild flowers, with tissue ribbons of green and of white leading up to a white umbrella draped with hollyhocks. A number of ferns and flowering plants and bowls of violets were arranged about the platform. The floral decorations were the work of the many young friends of Miss Huestis, in the Sunday School, the choir and the Guild, who were determined that the natural charms of the lovely bride and her handsome bridegroom, Mr. J. Edward Weldon, organist of the church, greeted the bride with the music of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bridal gown was of pale pink broadened satin, draped with nixon and shadow lace, with a tulle veil gathered into a close fitting cap; a bouquet of pink roses completed the attire. The bridesmaid was gown in pale green broadened satin, draped with nixon and pearl trimming, and with lace cap. The bride's mother, Mrs. Huestis, wore pale grey broadened satin.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, where the guests gathered to extend their congratulations to the groom. The pretty house arrangements, like those at the church, were in charge of Mrs. C. E. Hall, who was assisted in serving the guests by Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. H. L. Gaetz, Mrs. T. A. Gaetz, Mrs. Kane, Mrs. Porter, Miss Edith Jarvis and Miss Gertrude Hall.

Among the many gifts to the bride were remembrances from the teachers of the Methodist Sunday School, where she was teacher of the primary class. Her services will be very much missed in this church, as it will be at all local concerts. The groom is a Prince Edward Islander, and is a member of the firm of Macdonald & Macdonald, architects, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald left on the evening train on a wedding trip to Victoria, B.C. On their return they will make their home in Edmonton.

THE EVANGELISTIC WORK.

Dear White Ribboners of Sask.: Surely no department of our work is so important as our evangelistic department, the one that no Union can do without, for as oil is essential to the successful running of machinery, so is the evangelistic department to our Union. It is the backbone of all our work. When we fully realize this, not a union will be without it, as one of the best and most important departments of their work. At least one meeting a month should be wholly evangelistic, wholly devoted to prayer, and the spiritual training of the workers, a time of refreshment to the soul. To accomplish this, these meetings should be varied, but all full of life. Where a combined devotional and business meeting is held, the former part of the meeting is necessarily brief and formal, and little, if any, real help is obtained. Choose a devoted woman as a superintendent if possible; if not, let the vice-president take charge of it, not having all the work to the president. She needs the help and uplift to be obtained perhaps more than any one present.

At each meeting of this character, let the superintendent arrange for the next to come. To insure prompt response for prayers, arrange for a prayer circle, asking for some volunteers for the next meeting. This part provided for, choose good lively hymns, then have series of Bible studies, taking Biblical characters as a basis, men and women of our times, etc. Again, have a quotation meeting, each member to bring or send some verse or quotation that has been a spiritual uplift to her, stating occasions, etc. Another time, have a study of this department of our work, what are its aims, and how we as individual workers are helping along. Do not forget our monthly prayer for God's blessing upon our work everywhere. We do have special services under our W.C.T.U. auspices, do we visit the sick, read or pray with them. Perhaps in too many of our unions we do nothing along this line other than, it may be, sending a text card, with flowers, etc. It's the heart-to-heart talks that count. Words of sympathy and cheer given in times of need are the ones that touch the heart and win the soul as no text cards can do. Helpful as they may be. Try it, sisters, and prove what a blessing and help it will be, both to yourself and others. When there is no superintendent of Lord's Day observance, this work could be taken up by the evangelistic department. Plan how best we, as members, may keep the Lord's Day holy and help others to do so. Particularly in our western provinces do we need to be careful as to the example we are setting in this respect.

In small unions where it seems impossible to take up each of these very important departments of our work, and there is no Sunday School work done, why not this department do what they may? There is so much that could be done, or be helped by this department, that the really successful union is one with a healthy evangelistic department in which each member is ever on the watch and in prayer that no opportunity for service for our Master may escape her.

Yours in the Master's work,
MRS. J. H. CRAIG,
Supt. Evangelistic Work.

THE MEDAL CONTESTS.

Dear White Ribboners:

It is with a feeling of gratitude that I view the Medal Contest Department during the winter and the spring and summer. I would like especially to mention the successful work that Edmonton is doing. They are conducting contests every two or three weeks, and supporting a teacher for their Loyal Temperance Legion, with their funds. Is that not splendid? A two fold benefit. If any of you meet with discouragements in trying to get your first class, just persevere and your efforts will be rewarded with success. We had our first contest for the year, and judging by the continued efforts of our president to keep class going, it might have been viewed as a failure; but let me tell you the result. The children are coming daily, asking for admission to next class. The mothers are asking "When will there be another contest?" Men on the street say, "That was fine. A high-class concert, and a training for our boys and girls." People from country districts ask to have the contest repeated in their school-house. And our proceeds were over thirty dollars. Was it a failure? The harvest is not our keeping. It might have been viewed as a failure; but let me tell you the result. The children are coming daily, asking for admission to next class. It might have been viewed as a failure; but let me tell you the result.

As our work increases we feel the need of more new literature. Perhaps some of you have selections suitable for our work, not contained in our literature? If you will send me copies of same we may be able to help compile a new reader, or at least, appropriate many of them for special cases.

Trusting you will let me know if you have medalists to compete at district conventions at an early date.

Yours in the work,

Railway Development Must Not Be Delayed

THE GOVERNMENT COULD NOT TAKE THE CHANCES OF SUSPENDING GREAT RAILWAY ENTERPRISES AT THIS JUNCTURE

No one should object to the assistance given to the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific who is not prepared to see a suspension of the work in these great undertakings. The money market is so straitened that it is utterly impossible to float large loans on foreign markets. The Dominion cannot afford to have work cease on these transcontinental lines, and the Government has assured itself that this is what is very likely to happen if such aid is not granted. Such a result would bring with it the depression that would have very grave effect upon every man and every business in the country. There will, of course, be more or less criticism of the Government's action, but there would be much more criticism of the Government's inaction if the result outlined above came to pass.

Collection of Woods Will Be Shown at Forestry Convention

STATED THAT WINNIPEG GATHERING PRESAGES ADVANCE IN FOREST POLICY OF WEST

(Calgary News-Telegram)

The people of Alberta and the other prairie provinces will have at the meeting of the Canadian Forestry association, to be held in Winnipeg July 7, 8 and 9, an opportunity of seeing in concrete form examples of the woods which form the bulk of the timber wealth of the central west, as there will be a collection of woods made in the course of the last year by the officers of the Dominion forest service. There will also be an exhibit of insects prepared specially for the forestry convention by the entomology experts of the department of agriculture. It is expected that this announcement, made by Mr. Jas. Lawson, secretary of the association, just before leaving for the city of Winnipeg to make final arrangements for the meeting, will attract a large number of people in addition to the many who have already signified their intention of attending.

The movement for forest conservation is reported to be progressing rapidly in all parts of the west, particularly in Manitoba and in Alberta, where it is found that the forest areas can be made productive of a much greater amount of wood than was heretofore thought possible. It is said that a distinct advance in the forest policy of the west is an unlikely outcome of the Winnipeg convention.

Western Canada Baseball League Trouble Ahead

Drastic measures were taken by President F. M. Gray, of the Western Canada Baseball League, on June 17th, when he expelled W. Hurley, the manager of the Saskatoon Baseball Club, for refusing to adhere to the league rules. He also declared forfeited the franchise held by J. F. Cairns. The trouble between the Clubs is that the Saskatoon team are playing with a team of 14 men, and the others have only 12 men. The President of the League sent out an order for all teams to be reduced to 12 men. The order was complied with by Calgary, Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat and Regina, but the Saskatoon Club wired the secretary of the League, Mr. Farrell, on the matter, and he replied that class D teams were entitled to carry 14 men. J. F. Cairns means to fight the matter to a finish. He maintains that President Gray has no authority to reduce the number without the sanction of the Board of Control, which he failed to get. In the meantime the Saskatoon Club continue to play, under the direction of the League officials, with W. Hurley giving voluntary assistance from the stand. Later developments show that Secretary Farrell's ruling about the 14 players is right, and so President Gray has not charged the Saskatoon players with swearing to false affidavits in connection with salaries. President

Gray says the Club cannot play any more matches, and the suspension will not be lifted until the charge is disproved.

If the Saskatoon Club have above contracts bringing their wages above the limit, they have, under the broken following rule of the National Association: Any player, manager or club owner who conspires and enters into an illegal contract shall be penalized as follows: Player suspended for 60 days, manager fined $100, Club fined not less than $500 and not more than $800. Under that rule we fail to see how President Gray is justified in taking away the franchise of J. F. Cairns and expelling W. Hurley. It is, of course, possible that the League rules permit him to do so, but if the League have rules that do not conform to the National Association rules, then they cannot be upheld and the whole matter must fall through.

The whole matter is referred to by many baseball fans as a tempest in a tea pot. If Calgary had been in the lead, nothing would have been said about it, but as Saskatoon leads, something has to be done to defeat them. Calgary sports are considered a poor lunch by a good many, and Red Deer ball fans have not yet forgotten the way they were treated by the Calgary bunch last year. They have not to win or there is going to be trouble.

Miss Millar and Miss Spruille were made the recipients of handsome presents by the teaching staff last week on retiring from active service. Miss Millar was also treated to a shower of flowers by the pupils of her room. On Monday evening the Young People's Association of St. Luke's Church presented Miss Millar with a beautiful brass tray, bowl and two candlesticks, and an address which expressed regret at her removal from town and wished her joy in her future life.

On going to press we hear that the Fire Brigade met with a serious accident last night while at fire practice on the building of the Bank of Commerce. It is impossible to say at this stage how badly he is hurt. The other men were only slightly injured.

It was shown that a good market for eggs exists, which the farmers of Red Deer do not reach. ## North Red Deer Notes
